

Confidentiality Policy concerning Personal Information Collected by inVisu inc.

inVisu inc. respects the Loi sur l'accès aux documents d'information et Protection des renseignements personnels of Québec (Information and Privacy Act) of the government of Québec.

To subscribe to our electronic newsletter, or to download a demo version of our products, you have to give us your personal information.

You can, at any time, ask us to remove your personal information from our databases and your email address.

Intellectual Property Rights

Information contained in inVisu web site are the sole property of inVisu inc. which holds the rights of intellectual property.

Unless otherwise specified in this site, you can consult, print and distribute the documents available in this site.

1. the documents can only be used for information and in a not-for-profit way,
2. the documents cannot be modified or transformed in any way, by addition, removal or other, without the authorization of inVisu inc.
3. any copy of a document or part of a document must bear the source and the authorization of diffusion of inVisu inc.
4. inVisu inc. reserves the right to revoke this authorization at any time: any above-mentioned use shall be considered as null and void.
5. any use, reproduction or diffusion of information or documents obtained on inVisu inc. web site will be considered as null and void.
6. elements of graphical design which constitute inVisu inc. web site are protected by Canada Copyright Act.